

Update 14th June 2021

After today's announcement we are digesting what the Prime Minister has said and how this will affect weddings in the near future. Once we have worked out what this means for up-coming weddings, we will be contacting couples whose Big Day is affected.

Rest assured we are onto it, and we will be making decisions and giving advice as early as we can. In the meantime, if you feel you must contact us, please email and we will get back to you as soon as possible.

Ultimately there is light at the end of the tunnel, and we look forward greatly to resuming weddings properly.

Thank you for your co-operation and patience

Best wishes
